

Are you looking after someone?

Do you look after or support someone who is ill, frail, disabled or whose life is affected by substance misuse?.

This may be a child, adult, someone in your family, a friend or neighbour

If you do, you are a CARER

Being a carer can often affect your health. Doctors and nurses want to help but it's not always easy for them to remember to ask who is a carer

Does your GP know that you are a Carer?

You could help your GP by filling in this form and returning it to your GP Surgery, see overleaf

For more information please contact Care for the Carers
